

Email security experts

Vircom Inc. is a pioneer in email security software, technology, hardware and virtual appliance solutions, and professional services. Since 1994, Vircom has continuously introduced innovative technology and expertise to the email security and anti-spam markets.

Originally focused on Internet Service Providers, Vircom now protects the mailboxes of every industry, including corporate, finance, education, government and healthcare.

Vircom's extensive portfolio provides a wide range of applications and is available in various deployment options. These extend from simple mail filtering to complex, disaster-proof redundant and high-availability solutions, as well as hybrid deployments involving the combination of in-house and hosted facilities.

Focused on technology

At Vircom, every employee is focused on technology.

What Vircom is not about: We are not about sales staff calling every week to push for a sale, nor are we about first-line outsourced support teams requesting unrelated system reboots.

What Vircom is about: We are about engineers, IT, system and network administrators. We are about Windows, Exchange, firewall and SQL server specialists. We are about anti-spam, security, botnets and malware. We are about skill, knowledge and technical expertise. And we are utterly paranoid and eternal learners, yet always with a focus on simplifying complex technology for our customers.

Robust and high-performance filtering

- Proprietary multi-layer, predictive, artificial intelligence-based anti-spam technology and dual anti-virus engines with zero-hour updates to protect against spam, phishing, viruses, malware and other electronic threats
- Policy Management filters inbound and outbound email and attachments to prevent data leakage, monitor and protect your corporate secrets and assets

"We cut our teeth in the demanding Service Provider market and have not forgotten our origins. Customers rely on us daily for the infrastructure on which their whole business runs."
